We, and high-strung Merchant Tailors have them. We, ready made at from $10,00 to $25.00; they, to make at $25.00 to $45.00. Doesn't seem to pay the little clothing houses to sell such goods at such prices.

Genuine Montagnacs, Elysians, Chinchillas, Kerseys, Etc., in Blue, Brown, Black and Oxford, and many of them lined all the way through with William Skinner & Sons' pure satin, made especially for us, which means that they are perfectly tailored in work, fit, style. That's why we're lonesome among clothiers advertising and selling such luxurious garments at such phenomenally low prices. Is it any wonder then, that we sold List ten days?

When old customers were delighted with them, and strangers who called to look stood perfectly amazed, and then gladly went away with one. Such beautiful garments at such ridiculously low prices was a revelation to them.

Gentlemen, it you want the Best Overcoats in Wheeling, they are here. Without one you'll owe a debt to your personal appearance. With one, propriety, good taste and elegance walk with you.

THE WASHINGTON OIL FIELD. THE SECOND DEGREE The Production Steadily Decreasing-Bus

ness Booming all the Same

The production in the Washington oil field continues to fall off steadily. The last gauge of a day's run showed only 9,300 Of Murder in the Second Degree for the barrels. Business in oil circles was booming yesterday. The market opened at 68 and galloped like a race horse up to 70. At that point a stump carried prices down At that point a stump carried prices down grade to the 69 mark, but a sudden and vigorous rally soon marked i cent above the 70 line once more. At moon the market was 71 cents and the market closed strong. The outlook for better prices is very bright. A large and thoroughly organized bull movement is working from New York, as is indicated from the fact that day before yesterday clearances were greater there than in all other exchanges combined.

In the Hickory field the West Virginia National Gas Company bas brought in another roarer on the Adam Harbison at the depth of 2,270 feet; the Ryyal Gas Company brought in a big well at the Samuel Willison No. 2 and the Chartlers Natural Gas Company brought in one on 'What are you talking about?" asked Van. "I was never in your place before. I just came in from New York."

'Yoll, you petter go right avay pack mit Ni Yorruk. I don't van't your beesness."

Just then he was called into the back room. As he went, he looked back, and saw Van trying to coneal a whole suit of clothes on his person. The proprietor made a dash and caught him, and while two of his assistants held the prisoner he went for an officer. Lowe wanted to go, but Schmatzinotz's employen would'nt have it that way. Officer Jack West quickly responded to the call of the proprietor, and locked both men up. 'Van was as indignant as the Count de Flushon in "The Pavements of Paris" at the aspersion cast or his honesty.

After the arrest it was learned that L. Colmar, the news and notion dealer just below Schmatzinotz, had earlier in the day lodged an accueation against Van of stealing a book and a toy. He will be taken before Squire W. H. Davis on both charges this morning.

"A Rug Blaby."

On Monday evening next, Charles Hoyt's funny play, "A Rag Baby," will be presented at the Opera House. All of Hoyt's farces are hits at some craze or foible. This one runs on the prize-fight mania of recent times.

The natural gas main of the Wheeling of Company sprang a leak at a joint near the Sas Middletows, Washington county, last evening. Word was almost immediately received at the office of the company, in this city, of the break, and Superintendent Ross and a force of men at once went out on the Hemfield train and drove overland from the most convenient station, working all night arrepairing the break. The job was a difficult one, and rendered very disagreeable as well, by the snow and nasty weather, but by this morning the work will be completed. No damage resulted from the leak. A reserve force was kept at the city office all night, ready to go out at a moment's notice, but was not needed.

It has a drug store scene, too, which is a great burlesque, and a live buildog is one of the characters. He is called "Handsome," but the man who thinks that dog is really handsome has an exceedingly deprayed taste. Harry Connor, who impersonates the dude tramp, is quite a clever artist, as well as an excellent character actor. The cast here will include Mr. Frank Daniels, Harry Connor, Mark Sullivan, Edward Oggood, Misses Fannie Price, Flora Welsh, Helen Reimer, Clara Laine.
